Congratulations on being part of one of the most spectacular St. George Marathons ever. The beautiful weather created a stage for success at every level of participation. The top ten times on both the male and female sides of the podium were remarkable.

Bryant Jensen of Ogden, Utah capped a tremendous year of running by setting the new course record in a time of 2:15:56. Four previous winners at St. George finished in the top six this year. Remarkably, the top three previous winners each ran a time that beat their first place finish time from their award winning years.

Rosy Lee from Mountain Green, Utah became a three time winner at St. George, posting a 2:37:07, only 1 minute off the course record. Iain Hunter from Provo, Utah set a new course Masters record of 2:20:53, the fastest masters time ever run in the 37 year history of the St. George Marathon. Cathrine Wolden of Pound Ridge, New York won the Women's masters race in 2:48:39, placing 6th overall. Each of these winners won an all expenses trip to Ibigawa, Japan in November. St. George was well represented as Rosy won the half marathon at Ibigawa and Cathrine placed 7th.

Seven age group records were set this year including one six year old and two seven year old records. Marina Jones, (60-64) broke her own record by 6 minutes and 12 seconds. We added 94 runners to the 10 Year Club this year, 30 runners to our 20-Year Club, and 1 runner to the Thirty Year Club. Debbie Zockell continued her consecutive streak which is now at 37years. There are now 1455 runners who have chosen to run St. George at least 10 times. We can't thank enough these long time supporters who have committed so much of their lives to training for and running our race.

Each year our number one goal is to be better than we were the year before in providing a high quality, high value experience to you our devoted participants. We hope you feel that we were successful in meeting that goal.

Please join us again for our 38th Annual event on October 4, 2014. Best wishes for a great running year from our staff and volunteers.

OVERALL MALE BRYANT JENSEN

Call it beginners luck, Bryant Jensen of Ogden, Utah, took the overall male title in his first attempt at the St. George Marathon. Although a newbie to our course, he is a long-time running veteran who already made a mark as a standout at Freemont High taking all-state honors in cross country, and Weber State where he garnered conference honors as a versatile runner in cross country and track.

He had proven himself a contender from races ranging from 1500 meters to 10,000 meters, but hadn't tackled the marathon until he graduated in 2009. "I was in the best shape of my life coming out of college and decided now was the time," he explained. After completing Top of Utah, he shared a common marathon runner's sentiment: "When I finished I was happy, but not satisfied."

Ten marathons followed but he claimed at the back of his mind was trying his stride in St. George: "It's the most prestigious and competitive marathon in the state."

On race day he had some concerns about the cold but stayed bundled until the sun was up. He felt the strategy paid off and before mile eight was running solo. "I'd distanced myself by Veyo Hill and mentally felt strong. I felt I could maintain." Bryant said he knew going into the race it was going to be fast and competitive, but his success "exceeded all my expectations".

With a time of 3:15:56, Bryant clinched a PR that shattered his previous by over four minutes and put him into the echelons of Olympic qualifiers. What's more it adds a new glow to his newlywed bliss. Married just two weeks prior to his October race in St. George, he reasoned his outstanding race was possibly the result of "just being really happy."

"St. George is definitely going to have a special place among all the races I've run. It put me at another level that I just wasn't expecting."

OVERALL FEMALE ROSY LEE

Rosy Lee of Mountain Green, Utah, is a repeat winner taking overall honors in 2011. After sitting out in 2012 to have her fourth child, she returned in 2013 to reclaim the top spot and shave over seven minutes off her previous course time. When asked if she is just getting better with age, Rosy responded, "I trained more. I learned how to be more mentally prepared and that made a huge difference."

A prep and collegiate track standout, Rosy ran the 2010 Olympic marathon trials after qualifying in St. George in 1999. She took the next 10 years off from competitive running and became a self-described "recreational runner". Her "time off" also included the birth of her three sons.

With her triumphant return to St. George, she was quick to credit the coaching advice of BYU's Ed Eyestone for her improved speed and learning to implement mental strategies like 'power statements'. "I tell myself things like 'Cruise, easy running', 'Feel good', 'Finish strong', 'Push'."

She also gave props to her husband who drove around a few barricades to get her to the starting line on race day and avoid a long wait out in the cold. "I totally give him credit for giving me a great start. I didn't have to warm up which was really untypical."

The rest of the race went by with equal ease. "I just enjoyed it. I used to think people were crazy who said that but I just lost track of the miles. This time I felt great." She hadn't foreseen such a smooth ride three weeks prior when she was "nailed" by a serious sinus infection. But with some tough love from her husband she rallied. "He asked me if I was going to give up that easy. If I'd run the race that week I couldn't have finished. It comes down to the day. You do as much as you can do and then hope it's your day."

MASTERS MALE IAIN HUNTER

Iain Hunter of Provo, Utah, is breaking the habit. Running the past three St. George Marathons consecutively has all but done away with his habit of only running the marathon every other year. One constant that hasn't changed, however, is his habit of standing atop the champion's podium: Overall Champion in 2009, 4th Overall in 2011, Masters Champion in 2012, and Masters Champion in 2013.

"There's so much effort that goes into training. It impacts so many parts of your life," he said of his selectivity in only running the St. George Marathon. "Each year I come back I want to accomplish some goal. If you want to beat yourself in what you did before, then you have to put into the training something you didn't do before."

For the historically solo runner, this year that "something" was a training partner who added a boost of motivation, as well as "more mileage in every aspect of my training". Coached by Ed Eyestone who also mentors several of the top finishers in this year's marathon, Iain put in more miles than any prior marathon preparation. The result? "I felt great all the way through and the last 10K never felt so good."

By early indicators, Iain is starting a new habit- returning to St. George every year. In fact if you were to consult a Magic 8 Ball it would say "All signs point to yes." He is currently part of a training group who keep him enthused about the prep work for races. "When you're training with someone, chances are you end up spending more time with them than anyone else so you better enjoy them."

Another draw for back-to-back races is outside the realm of running. As a repeat winner he has made several trips to Ibigawa, Japan to visit St. George's sister marathon. Having stayed with the same host family each time, he has created an enduring transcontinental friendship. Before departing Japan in 2012 they asked if he'd be back soon, "I just smiled. I figured I better try." By a sweet turn of events this year Iain's Japanese host family traveled to St. George to cheer him on as he crossed the finish line. He will return the visit in a few short months as part of the winner delegation.

MASTERS FEMALE CATHRINE WOLDEN

Cathrine Wolden came a long way to set a PR of 2:48 and claim the title of Masters Champion. A Pound Ridge, New York, resident and native of Norway, she crossed the continent to cross the finish line in St. George for the first time. "The race was recommended to me by a friend who had run it several times," she said. "It came very well recommended for being well organized and fast and pretty solid weather."

A 40-year-old mother of twin preschoolers, she has developed a notable running resume in a short amount of time. "Of the 12 or 13 marathons I've run, the majority came after the girls," she said. "Up until about 10 years ago, the only running I did was just to stay in shape."

Although a self-professed late-bloomer, Catherine had running in her veins as both her father and maternal-grandfather were impressive competitive runners in Norway. In 2004, she decided to cross a marathon off her bucket-list and ran the Chicago Marathon with no extraordinary training and surprised even herself with a time of 3:34. "I qualified for Boston on my first try, and from then on I just couldn't stop running." She didn't even stop after giving birth via C-section in May 2008 (and several months off for bed rest) but charged back in November for the New York Marathon besting her previous PR by 10 minutes. She has since teamed with coach Alicia Shay and competed in races across the US and Europe including NYC, Boston, and Chicago Marathons.

As someone who has ran some of the largest marathons in the world it comes as high praise that Catherine is planning on coming back to St. George next year. "People say that traveling to run a marathon is a great way to see the city. It's not. Mostly, all you see of a city is whether they have cobblestone or paved roads," she said. "But in St. George I really appreciate how you could look out and see the beauty of the landscape."

She also commented on the amazing quality of the aid stations and volunteers for elite runners. "I was nervous about that and how I would find my water or if I would knock things over. But they were there waiting for me as I approached, and as soon as I left they were on the phone telling the next station I was on my way. I was very impressed with the whole system and the marathon."

HANDCYCLE MALE JERRY YOUNG

In 2012 Jerry Young finished with a scorching time of 58:12 but had to be satisfied with second place. This year the Providence, Utah, resident had a taste of redemption as he broke the finish line first in just a sliver over his previous time at 1:01. "I felt like I was riding strong and it was a strong race. I love St. George. I always enjoy coming here this time of year," he said of the end result.

The race wasn't without its challenges. Jerry admitted that the colder weather (which can impact handcyclists to a larger extent because of wind chill and the fact that numb hands are clumsy hands) was a factor, as well as not having his carrot to chase in 2012 Handcycle Winner, Jay Conway. In addition, his front tire was out of alignment which he estimates cost him three to five precious minutes. The tire was a problem that he didn't pull over to remedy until it was light and he could see what was happening. Still, he was able to battle back thanks in large part to the intensive training regime he followed in preparation for the race. "Last year I broke my shoulder in April and it only left me 12 weeks for training. This year I just trained really hard and it resulted in a good run."

The St. George Marathon victory also concluded his season within the US Handcycling Circuit and added points that took him to 13th overall in the Male H3 standings. (The classifications of H1-H4 are based on extent of the athlete's impairment.) "The sport of handcycling is a new found freedom for me. A disability on a bike doesn't matter," explained Jerry who was diagnosed with transverse myelitis as an infant. "I purchased my first bike in 2011 and I've been hooked from the moment I got into it. It's something I enjoy, and I find myself training harder and harder."

He admits that fitting everything in with his sport, his family, and his career as a safety engineer "isn't always easy", but doesn't hesitate to state he'll "be back and ready to race" again when the season starts up in January.

WHEELCHAIR MALE NATHAN CROWTON

Nathan Crowton of Ogden, Utah, crossed the finish line for the 22nd time. He said he is shooting for at least 25 finisher medals but will keep showing up every October "as long as I can". When asked about his devotion to the St. George marathon, he responded, "It may be like the Wizard of Oz mentions, 'There's no place like home.'"

A veteran marathoner with over 50 marathons, not to mention as many half-marathons and shorter races under his belt, his first marathon experience came on the St. George course. This year that experience proved apt as he came prepared for the nippy start. He wore three layers of clothing to withstand the exposure when his speedometer reached 45 mph coming into Veyo. "It was a pretty nice race," he concluded.

Nathan reached another milestone this year by competing in the Boston Marathon in April. He had qualified at the 2012 St. George Marathon. He spoke of the mix of emotions that came from realizing a dream and then being on scene during the tragic bombings. "I finished 40 to 60 minutes before it all happened. I'd just left the medical tent and was going to the massage area when we heard it all start up," he said. "At first we thought the sound was scaffolding falling off a building."

He felt blessed to have finished prior to the bombings and credits his speedy finish in part to the constant crowds along the course that "helped me keep going all the way through". Since the 50 plus wheelchair athletes were diverted to the left at the finish line, he would have been directly in the blast area if he had come in later.

The spirit of the Boston community impressed Nathan both during the race and after the attack, "They rushed in to help everyone out. They didn't scare off." He said that subways and cell phones were shut down for about an hour following the blast and that his family was anxious to know he was safe. Still, he wouldn't hesitate to return to Boston again and show his support. "If I was able to get a sponsor, I would go back. It didn't scare me off either."
